PROF. PALMERI considers it proven that great earthquakes are always preceded by a season of preliminary earth tremblings. He believes that by means of telegraphically connected stations for observing these tremblings it would be possible to forecast earthquakes just as storms are now forecast, and to issue warnings to all threatened districts three days in advance.

Mrs. LOUISA M. FURNISS, of New York, has learned by dear experience the evil of not carrying her tongue. In 1888 her husband insured her life for $30,000, taking the usual oath as to sobriety, correct moral habits, etc. He paid the premiums promptly, evidently intending to do a good thing by Mrs. Furniss. A year or two ago the lady became enamored of her husband, and in order to secure a separation, made affidavit that he was "addicted to the extreme use of intoxicating liquors, causing him to be frequently in a drunken and irresponsible condition of mind." Her testimony obtained the desired separation. A year ago Mrs. Furniss was found dead in a room, and his widow promptly applied to the insurance company for the payment of the policy, but to her discomfort her affidavit as to his intemperate habits was presented as a reason why the money should not be paid. She took the case into the courts, which have just decided in favor of the insurance company. It is presumed that Mrs. Furniss is mad enough at herself to speak no more for half an hour, or such a matter.

"WELL, what do you think of it?" was asked of a gentleman who had just read Mr. Campbell's protest against the issuance of a certificate of election to Mr. Cannon. The reply was prompt and emphatic: "It's thin—deuced thin. Mr. Campbell presents a weaker showing than was expected from him." The text of the protest appears in full in this issue of the HERALD. After reading it intelligent people will agree with the gentleman whose brief but succinctly simple estimate is given above. It appears to us that if Mr. Campbell had any good grounds upon which to base a protest he has failed to present them. Robert Williams, the electric character who received one vote for delegate at the late election, could with equal propriety protest against the certificate being given to Mr. Cannon, and with as good ground as Mr. Campbell brings forth, claim the certificate for himself. He would have as good a right to represent the people of Utah in Congress as Mr. Campbell has, and if the protest is a fair sample of Mr. Campbell's sentiments, we think Mr. Williams would make the ablest delegate of the two. We are assuming as a matter of course that Mr. Campbell is the author of his protest. It is true that a lawyer appears for him in the business, and filed the paper with the official canvasser, but we question if the legal gentleman would like to father the document. Besides, the further evidence that it was invented and constructed by Campbell, is the fact that it is dated on Sunday. A lawyer could not have been guilty of so gross a violation of a Christian manly law, as the violation of the Sabbath in this glaring manner. Mr. Campbell must have spent last Sunday in the pleasant pastime of seeing how ridiculous he could make himself. But, seriously, Mr. Campbell must have an anatomical check to claim the office of delegate to Congress from this territory, in the face of the returns from the late election. We can understand how the southern republicans, whose votes have been rejected by the thousand by a partisan canvassing board, or against whose supporters intimidation and violence have been employed to keep them away from the polls, can come forward and ask a seat in Congress. But here the circumstances are entirely different. The election was as free and fair as it is possible for such things to be. Not the slightest intimidation was employed. Indeed, Mr. Campbell's political opponents exerted themselves to get his friends to the polls. A large vote was earnestly desired by all. As to the fairness and regularity of the election, there has never been the slightest question raised. The press for weeks before the election cautioned all registrars, voters, election officers and county officials to observe that the law was followed in all its details; that none but those who were unquestionably entitled to vote be allowed to cast ballots, that the returns be made in correct legal form, and that nothing be done that could throw the slightest doubt upon the validity of the returns. As it well known the greatest pains were taken to conduct the voting properly, and we undertake to say that in no state or territory in the Union was the election nearer to accordance with the strict letter of the law, than that which was held here on November 2. At that election about 6 per cent. of the votes, or one in fifteen, were cast for Allen G. Campbell, while about 94 per cent. were given for George Q. Cannon. Mr. Cannon's majority was more than twice that of Mr. Campbell had hundreds of votes. Not a solitary county gave Mr. Campbell a majority. Not a county gave him a third of the votes of the county. Five counties each gave Cannon a majority over Campbell's total vote. Two counties each gave Cannon a majority equal to double the total vote of Campbell. Three counties repudiated Campbell entirely, neither giving him a vote. And yet, in the face of these facts, the gentleman comes forward and impudently asks that he be permitted to represent Utah in Congress. Why does he not claim a seat for one of the New York districts or ask for the California United States senatorship soon to be filled? If the people of Utah had wanted Mr. Campbell for delegate they would have said so, and not given the emphatic No which is found written all over the returns. Even his own party, if we go so far as to admit that he has a party, did not want him, or it would at least have given him its full vote. Nobody here will assert that the miserable little vote of 1,800 shows anything like the strength of the Gentile voting population of Utah. A more popular candidate would have called out more than double that number; hence the exhibition of cheek by Mr. Campbell is extraordinarily refreshing. As to the grounds upon which the gentleman bases his claims for congressional honors, they are, as the reader will observe, of the shallowest character. Some of the assertions are absolutely false, and if others are true, Mr. Campbell cannot establish the fact, hence, so far as he is concerned, they are untrue. But above everything, they are all matters beyond the lawful power of the Governor to determine, in so far as they affect the delegatehip. Unfortunately for the Hon. Silver gentleman there is the provision in the law which he quotes, namely: "So soon as all the returns are received, the secretary to the presence of the Governor, shall unseal and examine them, and furnish to each person having the highest number of votes for any territorial office, a certificate of his election." Right here, now, Campbell is checked, and the canvasser's duties are at an end. The question as to a candidate's eligibility, the matter of the legality of a vote, and all other questions concerning the election and the persons voted for, must be determined by others than the executive, who is limited to the performance of a ministerial duty involving simply a slight knowledge of mathematics and an ability to make his cross mark. In Mr. Cannon's case, Congress must be the sole judge of his qualifications, and before that body must Mr. Campbell make his fight. We apprehend the protest will amount to nothing, as it cannot prevent the issuance of the election certificate, and unless the contestant has been grievously lied about, he will carry the silly claim no farther. The contest in Washington would involve money, and the stories about during the campaign placed Mr. Campbell in the Bill English corps of office-seekers.

Change in the London Bank.
By reference to the card of the London Bank of Utah, it will be seen that a change has taken place in the management of the institution. Mr. Anthony Godbe retired as manager, and Mr. R. N. Baskin assumes control as general agent. We also learn that Mr. W. M. Raymond, who has been cashier since the opening of the bank, retires with Mr. G. O. Galt. These changes must not be understood as affecting the business of the bank, which will be conducted as heretofore under the new management, which we need not assure the public is both capable and responsible. In connection with the change it will not be improper to say a pleasant word for the outgoing manager. Most of our readers can recall the persistent and finally successful efforts of Mr. Godbe to found the bank. After a year or so spent in England in obtaining the necessary capital and perfecting the organization upon a solid foundation, the gentleman opened the institution in this city (two years) and a half ago, and it at once found friends and patrons. Under the founders' management its business has increased rapidly and steadily in the community, until today it is regarded as one of the prosperous and favorite financial concerns of the interior west. Mr. Godbe has reason to feel pride in the success that has attended his efforts.

LATEST TELEGRAMS.

FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

LAST SESSION.

SENATE.
Washington, 15.—Bills were introduced by Hill, of Colorado, for the retirement of small legal tenders.
By Pendleton to regulate and promote the efficiency of the civil service, also against the political assessment of United States officials.
Bursaid and Morrill advocated the bill for devoting part of the proceeds of the sale of public lands, to public education. Senator Brown followed Morrill in support of the bill. He pointed out that nearly all our prominent men, from Washington to Garfield, had been of poor parents, and had by their thirst for knowledge and their industry won their way up to the top. Doubtless thousands of the equals of these he had mentioned, had remained mud and in ignorance through the absolute impossibility of overcoming unfavorable circumstances and obtaining the necessary education to lift them above the masses. Brown referred to the great advantage enjoyed by New England in comparison with other sections of the country, by reason of her supremacy in education.

HOUSE.
Washington, 15.—Belford, Colorado, introduced a bill for the retirement of small legal tenders.

The bill pensioning the widow of the late President Tyler, $100 per month, passed.

Baker reported the fortification bill, and the House went into committee to consider it. When asked to have it have precedence over the funding bill.

Calkins argued against the amendment and suggested that the modern and effective method of fortifying sea ports was the torpedo system.

Speed argued on the authority of General Grant that the modern and effective method of fortifying sea ports was the torpedo system.

The amendment was rejected—yeas 59, nays 90.

The other amendments offered by Reagan, Fort and Ellis were all either rejected or ruled out of order.

The House reported the bill to the House and it passed.

Gibson, Louisiana, from the committee on Mississippi River, reported the bill to the House and it passed.

The bill pensioning the widow of the late President Tyler, $100 per month, passed.

WASHINGTON.
Washington, 15.—There is much comment this evening concerning the nomination of Circuit Judge Woods for the seat on the Supreme Bench resigned by Justice Strong. He is considered to be an able judge, and is highly esteemed by lawyers of the section; but there is much indignation among a large number, and to little amusement among distinguished outsiders. He is credited to Georgia, although a citizen of Ohio by birth and residence until the period of the war of the rebellion. Several southern senators, to-day, declared emphatically that they will oppose his confirmation upon the ground that it is grossly unfair to proceed in this way of appointing a man to the Supreme Bench with Ohio men, and the present indications are that a pretty strong fight will be made against Judge Woods' confirmation on this account. It is generally believed, however, that he will be confirmed, in which case he will relieve Judge Bradley of the southern supreme court circuit, and Bradley will be assigned to Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey circuit, hitherto the field of Justice Strong.

Senator Teller, to-day, introduced a bill providing that any person owning or leasing any land, or any interest in land, or "blanket" claims, adjacent to each other, or not more than half a mile apart, on which the assessment labor for the first year has been completed, and thereafter perform upon any one claim of the combined number the entire assessment labor due upon the whole number of claims. If any mineral is reached on the claim worked, it shall then cease to be counted as one of the combination and another shall be selected on which to work the assessment of the remainder; and so on until any mineral is reached, on the ground upon which performed, may provide that mining claims located since the 10th of May, 1872, which exceed 1,500 feet in length along the vein or lode, and that no claim shall extend more than 300 feet on each side of the middle of the lode or location at the surface.

Chicago, 15.—After Ocean's Washington General Grant returned to his residence at Columbia, and attracted much attention. His disclaimer from Hampton was published because of a severe letter from a Southern citizen living in California, who charged Hampton with causing the death of Hancock after summing up the democratic blunders, the writer said: But these causes put together were not so potent for harm as Gen. Hampton's utterances. His speeches upon the non-resistance of Hancock, and at Staunton, Va., told terribly against us; but the worst and most unfortunate of all warlike utterances since looking to a duel with John Sherman. But for that, Hancock might have been president and the people of the south free from federal interference for the next four years. The writer is an admirer of Hampton. His great service to the people of South Carolina entitles him to their just gratitude. He has many friends in this country, and they are not altogether confined to the democratic party. I have heard but one feeling expressed in relation to his Sherman correspondence, and that is one of deep mortification and disappointment, that with one breath such a high reputation for prudence and statesmanship should be irretrievably lost. The letter has resulted in the publication of Hampton's attempt at self defense. His friends here say he feels keenly the criticism that have been poured out upon him from his own party.

Miscellaneous.
Paris, 15.—The funeral of Madame Tiers was a very imposing pageant.

St. Louis, Mo., 15.—Two coaches of the Kansas City express, which left here at 9 o'clock last night, were derailed near Eureka and several persons injured, among them twelve. The railroad company is not at fault.

New York, 15.—Advises from Washington are that the 8 per cent. funding bill was likely to pass and the easier condition of the money market late in the afternoon, had a tendency to stimulate an upward movement in stocks.

London, 15.—Joshua Caldwell, railway contractor, of London, has failed. Liabilities 500,000 francs.

Bucharest, 15.—It is reported that the man who attempted to assassinate Premier Bratianu, acted under the orders of a secret society which had already given Bratianu notice that he was condemned to death.

New York, 15.—The announcement was made to-day of the failure of Siderberg & Co., manufacturers of cigars and importer of tobacco, at Rode and Church streets, and at Key West, Fla. Liabilities, $62,000, assets about the same.

New York, 15.—The committee to examine the charges against the officers of the steamer Switzerland, report the charges of brutal and inhuman treatment unsustained.

The Irish Troubles.

London, 15.—Manning, the farmer who, it was alleged, was intimidated, denied the deposition put in by the prosecution in which he (Manning) stated that Healy and Walsh threatened him, and now states that he was neither threatened nor afraid.

The executive of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ireland, at a special meeting, yesterday, adopted a resolution to raise a fund for the purpose of providing means and protection for loyal men in remote districts.

The state of siege at Jones' residence in London, has been cancelled.

Dublin, 15.—The burg, after some hours' deliberation, repudiated Healy and Walsh. Parnell, Dillon and Dillon have received letters threatening them with death.

London, 16.—It is stated that 100 men will start for Dublin to-night, to reinforce the Civil Service Guard there. A battalion of Civil Guards has been ordered to be ready to proceed to Ireland on Friday.

Cork, 15.—A great popular demonstration took place, to celebrate the victory of Healy and Walsh, who addressed a large crowd in front of their hotel. Healy said the result of the trial would be reflected in Dublin in the acquittal of Parnell.

London, 15.—When Jones' cattle arrived at Dublin they were treated in the same way as at Cork. An attempt will be made to-day, to ship the cattle to Glasgow or Liverpool. If that fails, Jones' agent will telegraph for instructions whether the cattle shall be conveyed to Bristol by way of Belfast. In the meantime the police guard the cattle.
